

Disclaimer

The content of this site has been put together with great care and will be regularly updated. However, it cannot be excluded that some data is outdated, incomplete or incorrect. In case you detect incorrectness on our website, or you notice differences between the site content and the written information, please contact us as soon as possible.

Our products are constantly evolving. This means that the items to be delivered could differ from the examples shown on the website. Changes to the price, material and type and typing errors are reserved and cannot be excluded.

Our site could contain hyperlinks to other sites. This doesn't endorse an opinion or position about the content of those sites.

We do not accept any responsibility for possible wrong or incomplete information, nor for the consequences from the use of this information.

We are not liable for losses due to interruptions of the site, for losses caused by technical errors or delays in the provision of information or products.